

Level II and Level III Core Courses Offered Fall 2018 UPDATED

Level II

Arts and Culture

AR219: Hands on Art History
AR225: Art in Our Environment
DR213: History of Theatre I
HI204: American Family and the Home
MU205: Jazz: The American Musical Venture
MU206: The Art of Song
MU211: Composing with Computers
SP200: Intermediate Spanish I
WR203: Creative Writing I
WR211: Persuasive Writing

Literature & Language

EN205B: Myths of Britain: Power, Gender and Identity
EN207A: States of Grace
EN208A: A Literature Made by War
EN210A: Writing Freedom: The Empowered Self and World Literature

Philosophy and Religion

HN201: The Good Life
HU210: Happiness
PH201: Ethics, Policy, and Practice
RE200: Religion in America
RE202: Western Religious Traditions
RE241: Jesus, Gospels, and Canon
RE251: Religion in Film and Literature
RE252: Introduction to Black Theology

History and Social Sciences

AA201: African Cultures & Traditions
GE205: World Regional Geography
HI225: Ancient History
IS 200: Intro to Comparison of Cultures
LJ2XX: The Prison Culture of America*
PE220: Experiential Learning through Play
PO260: Responsible Citizenship

Level III

Identifying with Diversity

ED311: Literature for Children
EN320: Adolescent Literature
HI330: The American Civil War and Reconstruction.
HI338: Exhibiting Controversy
HI345: The Cold War in Popular Culture
HI3XX: Modern Japan*
HI3XX: Golden Age of Islam*
MA325: Introduction to SAS Programming
ME301: Documentary Film
MU327: Music: The Universal Language
MU 328: American Pop – Music and Identity in the US
PY320: Psychology and Media Effects
RE351: The English Reformation

Personal, Social, & Ethical Responsibility

CM325: What You Say Without Words
EN353: American Romanticism
PH300: Business Ethics
SO301: Contemporary Social Problems
SO321/LJ319: Drugs in American Society

*New Courses. These are newly created and approved courses which, because of their place in the process, did not have course numbers assigned at the time of this writing. Numbers will be added to the list once they are assigned. Course titles, however, remain the same, and can be relayed to students.